Chapter 1 by Nathan Zilora

I am writing this so I can explain what is going on, why everyone is acting the way they are. If you are reading this, you are one of the only humans left out of her control. I can hear her and here her puppets at my door, it is only a matter of time before my mind lets in. You are a survivor, and even if you don't survive this war, you should at least know how it started.

No one knows how she got the powers she has, some people think it was training, others think it was genetic. I think both.

One day she was walking down the street, when she came across a boy, shivering and cold. His family abandoned him, and now he was left on the streets to die.

She, good at the time, thought "I can help this kid, I can make him feel better"

So she said to the poor, innocent boy,

"Boy, look into my eyes, and I promise you will feel better, I can help you"

The poor child looked in her eyes, and got lost in them, her first victim never to return. He was not mindless, as most people think. He was happy. He now wanted to do whatever this girl told him to do. From that day on, he was hers.

"Come to my house, I am alone, so you can become company."

Doesn't sound so bad does it? how could this girl turn so evil? opportunity. The source of all evil, because as she let him into the house, she thought, this place is a mess. And it was, so as she went to get him some water, she though,

"I'm doing all this to him, at least he should do something for me."

As he cleaned, her mind became more evil and twisted, her victim now, is her right hand man now, and this opportunity, created the war. Though before we can get to that, we need to explore her next act of hypnotism, the one that got the public's attention.
